

North America

The overall risk level for the U.S. and Canada increased this year. While scores for AML/CFT/CPF frameworks and public transparency remained unchanged, several other indicators shifted towards higher risk. Financial transparency showed the sharpest rise, with more moderate increases in corruption and political and legal risks.

WEAKEST AREA
Financial transparency and standards

Canada falls into the lower-risk category

Scores will be affected by upcoming FATF evaluations for Canada (November 2025)
and USA (February 2026)